FARE ON BRIDGE

Mayor McClellan Gets Belated * Information About Scheme to Charge Three Cents Extra on Williamsburg Structure.

EXPRESSES INDIGNATION " AND SAYS HE'LL BLOCK IT.

Will Refuse to Approve Any Con-*tract that Does Not Stipulate that Passengers Shall Cross for One Five-Cent Fare.

Mayor McClellan will block any atempt to extort an additional threecent fare from passengers patronizing the cars, which, it is promised, will eross the Williamsburg bridge by July 1. He said emphatically to-day that any such attempt either by means of the incorporation of an independent company or as the result of an agreement between the B. R. T. and the Metro-politan will meet with his determined day that a combination of local rail-ad interests was operating in the din of charging a three-cent addi nal fare to cross the bridge was the yor aware of the exact situation. This is all news to me and not recable news, either," said the Mayor. I certainly am opposed to any plan which contemplates exacting an additional fare for the privilege of crossing the new bridge. I ghall not agree to a compact between the city and the rail-road companies until it is specifically supulated that the payment of a five cent fare shall entitle a passenger to a continuous ride across the structure Resorting to Sharp Practice.

Resorting to Sharp Practice.
"It is strange that this matter had not before been called to my attention. It appears at first glance as though the interested persons are resorting to marp practice. I shall investigate this natter very fully, and shall instruct Bridge Commissioner Best to approve a no contract which may involve the payment of one penny for the mere privilege of crossing the bridge. The five-cent fare should include a through the price of the strange of the contract of the property of permanent arrangement."

either as a temporary or permanent arrivgement."

To cannot, answered the Mayor thoughtfully.

Mr. McClellan added that no intimation hade been made several weeks ago, when it was agreed that the New York Hailway Company, the B. R. T. and the Coney Island and Brooklyn lines were to jointly use the bridge, that an eight-cent fare was even a possibility. The talk then all revolved around a five-cent fare, with the Manhattan cars crissing the Bridge to Brooklyn and returning via a loop and the Brooklyn and returning also by the loop system.

Bridge Commissioner Best and Chief Engineer Nichols, of the Bridge Department, admitted that the railway companies had apparently pooled their lighterests for the purpose of extorting an additional three cents from every passenger crossing the bridge in the cars.

"But," said Mr. Best, "that is until

Ars. "But," said Mr. Best, "that is until such time as the companies can run through cars over the bridge. How long that time would be I am not prepared to state. Until the loops are constructed through cars can not be run over the bridge. To provide for immediate necestites it is planned to run shuttle trains from termnus to terminus. The 3-cent fare is proposed to be charged on these shuttle trains."

Engineer Nichols then said he underma."

Engineer Nichols then said he undermod that the three companies interseted propose incorporating an indemendent company to be known as the fliridge Railroad Company.

"At present I do not see what other rangement can be made that will insure the operation of cars across the bridge," said the engineer. "We have waited now a year for the companies to do something, and I understand that they are not overanxous to go ahead with the work of crossing the bridge."

We are confronted now with the possibility of having to run cars—as we did to the old bridge."

MAYOR'S WIFE SEES POLICE.

Mrs. McClellan Calls on Commissioner McAdoo.

The wife of Mayor McClellan and her ster rode up to Police Headquarters to-day in a big automobile for a visit to Commissioner McAdoo.

He took them all through the building, from the Rogues' Gallery to the matron's repository for lost children, on the 'op floor. Mrs. McClellan was greatly interested in the workings of the Police Department and spent more than half an hour in the Headquarters building.

The law now found by President Littleton is Chapter No. 409, of Statutes of 1904, and amends Section No. 47, of the Charter as re-enacted by Chapter No. 469 of the Laws of 1901. It reads:

'In inddition to the specific purposes hereinhefore set forth, the Board of Aldermen may also create loans and authorize the issue of bonds for any other purpose connected with the exercise of the various powers conferred by the act upon the city of New York or any department or official thereof; provided, however, that no bonds or other indebtedness shall be issued for such additional purposes unless first approved by a unanimous vote of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment."

ditional purposes unless first approved by a unanimous vote of the Board of Beard of Beard and Apportionment."

"This law undoubtedly gives the city all the authority it needs to make improvements," said President Littleton to-day. "It differs from the old law in that it provides for the construction, improvement and equipment of buildings used by the city.

"Another important feature is that it empowers the city to build and equip vessels." That will permit of new police and fire boats.

"I think it is the best law New York has secured from the Legislature in many years. The lever controlling expenditures is with the Board of Estimate. The law requires a unanimous vote in that body and without that no money may be appropriated. Even should the Board of Estimate exceed the reasonable limit there is always the popular sentiment, which may stop anything. There can be no danger of the city's treasury being looted."

That Mayor McClellan does not believe it is incumbent upon him to inquire into removals of deputies is now apparent to politicians. The Mayor has said that Commissioners should be given the same latitude in disposing of their deputies as in selecting them. Nor is it believed that the Mayor will intervene to prevent future removals.

He at once cancelled the trip, and declared, it is added, that he would remain in New York until every McCarren man holding office had either agreed to follow Doyle or was put out of the public service. Mr. Murphy smiled when the story was told him to-day, but would not discuss it.

When the leader reached Tammany Hall to-day he _id that he was enjoying the best of health, stories to, the contrary notwithstanding, and had no ntention of going away.

"New York is a good enough summer esort for me. And here in Tammany, he added, smiling, "we have the fountains of perpetual youth." Asked regarding the Brooklyn situa-
